WASHINGTON LETTER.

The National Committee—The Sherman Anniversary—Gen. Fremont Overjoyed—The Federal Election Bill.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 12, 1890.

Senator Quay has presided over a very important meeting of the National Republican committee here to-day. One notable feature of the meeting of the committee was the entire absence of the wrangling which our Democratic friends have been of late so industrious in telling about. There is harmony among the members of the committee and they all think that the Republicans can hold their own if not increase their majority in the House of Representatives by hard work between now and election day, next November.

The Sherman family which has occupied a proud position in American history for a good many years celebrated two notable anniversaries in this city, Friday and Saturday evenings. The first was the seventieth birthday of Gen. Wm. Tecumseh Sherman, and it was celebrated by a reception at the residence of his brother, John, the Senator, which was attended by about every prominent person in Washington. The General, who by the way is looking remarkably well, came over from New York city, where he now resides and will remain here for a few days. The second event celebrated was the sixty-seventh birthday of Senator John Sherman, who made it memorable by a dinner at which the President, Vice-president and other prominent personal friends were entertained.

In the House to day the five minute debate on the tariff bill, which is to continue eight days, was begun. At its close the vote will be taken. Some very strong speeches were made last week in support of the bill, but as important as the subject is none more important, the audience have been small both on the floor and in the galleries. There is but little entertainment in a tariff speech no matter how able the speaker may be.

The election of a successor to the late Senator Beck has brought out the fact that Ex-Speaker Carlisle, one of the leading candidates has a great many bitter enemies in his own party, and some very revolting stories of his personal habits and private life are being told by Democrats here.

A bill has been introduced into the House to prohibit printing up, on or attaching any advertisement for public display, to an American flag.

In spite of Democratic opposition the Senate has passed, and the President signed the bill, classifying all imported worsted goods as woolen.

Secretary Proctor on Saturday made a second allowance of $50,000 for the Mississippi flood sufferers. This leaves a balance in his hands of $50,000 out of the $150,000 recently appropriated by Congress. Representative La Fayette of Wisconsin, made a telling point in favor of a protective tariff when he said: "The Democrats denounced the Republican party when in 1853 it placed a duty on wire nails of 4 cents a pound. The duty has stimulated the production of wire nails and to day they are being sold at 2 cents and two tenths cents a pound or just a little more than one half of the duty imposed."

Gen. John O. Fremont was so overjoyed to learn, as he did last week, that instead of owing the Government $19,000 as claimed by the Treasury department some years ago, the Government owed him $2,800, that he fainted in the office. The mistake was made by a careless book keeper.

The Senate has passed the army appropriation bill with an amendment providing that no alcoholic liquors, beer or wine, shall be sold to enlisted men in any canteen or building in a garrison or military post.

The House has passed a bill giving Mrs. Parnell, mother of the leader of the Irish party in the British House of Commons, a pension of $50 a month. The pension is given in consideration of the extraordinary services of Mrs. Parnell's father, Admiral Charles Stewart, who served in the United States navy for 71 consecutive years.

The Senate before passing the annual pension appropriation bill adopted an amendment, thereto increasing the number of pension agencies from eighteen to twenty.

The Rowell Federal election bill which has been approved by the Republican caucus has been introduced in the House. It is almost the same as the Hoar bill now pending in the Senate. It now seems certain that a Federal election law will be enacted at the present session, though a few Republicans in both the House and Senate are opposed to it.

Senator Edmunds is again in his cat, and he denies that he has been ill as was reported, and says it was only another case of "news paper sickness."

Representative Morrill of Kansas who has been represented by the Democratic press as being a candidate to succeed Senator Ingalls, says that he has no idea of becoming a candidate for the Senate, and he adds that Mr. Ingalls is certain of being reelected by a good majority.

The murder in the jail of Lexington, S. C. of Willie Leaphart, the young Negro convicted on manufactured evidence of a criminal assault on a white girl, to save the real criminal, and sentenced to hang but reprieved on the day of execution by Gov. Richardson, to give time for a motion for a new trial to be made, is one of those deeds that make humanity shudder; and the open defiance to the authorities to punish the perpetrators, reveals a condition of lawlessness unparalleled in the history of this country; but as the deed is not all out yet, we will wait further developments before giving our readers a review of the case.—New Orleans Crusader.

The Regulators of Iberia parish have begun anew their bloody work. It is election year and they begin early. On the night of April 29, the room of Louis Lock, an industrious colored laborer on the Belle Grove plantation was invaded by a gang of red headed criminals, who took him out in the yard and barbarously shot him to death. Lock's room adjoined that of the overseer, who heard the struggle for life but did not dare come to the assistance of the unfortunate victim of the white Comanches. No cause is assigned for the crime and no arrest has been made but the District Attorney has given the perfect assurance that he will not rest until he has brought the guilty parties to punishment. Answer—New Orleans Crusader.

FROM LYNCHBURG.

Y. M. C. A. Organized—Social Club.

LYNCHBURG, Va., May 11, 1890.

To the Editor of THE PLANET:

The Lynchburg Y. M. C. A. is doing admirably well. We have fitted out a very nice reading room for our young men and receive weekly many colored newspapers for which we are thankful.

Last week the Association received from Rev. John A. Broadus of Louisville, Ky., a fine selection of books and papers, we feel very grateful. The Association will be set apart as a branch of the Grand body by Mr. Williams of the Richmond Y. M. C. A. on the 19th. The officers will be elected on that night. I am quite sure that Mr. S. M. Slaughter will be elected President and Mr. W. R. Smith, Secretary.

The Va. gentlemen's club is doing very well; Lawyer R. W. Rose, is Pres. Mr. W. H. Ward, Sec. and M. David Whitlock, Treas. This is not a club of young politicians, non-partisan, non-sectarian, but an entirely independent club of young gentlemen who have banded themselves together for a moral, intellectual and financial benefit. They elected to represent them in the convention that met at Richmond Mr. J. A. Crawford and R. W. Rose.

We intend to help those young men that help themselves. Our race will look upon us as a blessing and the public shall feel our influence.

MANCHESTER NOTES.

The Sabbath School Union met on last Sunday afternoon with the First Church Sunday School. The attendance was quite large. Several scholars from various schools rendered some fine selections, after which Misses Lillie S. Moon and Francis A. Logan read excellent essays relating to Sunday school work. Mrs. Julia E. Cousins read her selections admirably well. Mr. Wm. Moon being appointed to address the Union responded and stated that the Union Moon had just left the rostrum, and he saw present the Sun of the State Sabbath Schools, therefore it gave him pleasure to introduce the Sun of the State Sunday school Convention, President R. T. Hill, who delivered an eloquent and pointed address, urging upon the young men and young women to rally to the support of the Sabbath schools and make them what they should be. Mr. R. J. Bass, president of the Richmond Union, was then introduced, and delivered a few pointed and instructive remarks, after a collection the Union adjourned to meet with the 2nd church Sunday school in June.

One of Mr. Nathan E. Johnson's frame dwellings, situated on Hull street bet. 11th and 12th, was almost totally destroyed by fire on last Friday night, between twelve and one o'clock, and but for the prompt response of the fire company much more damage would have been done. The dwelling mostly burned was occupied by Mr. Thornton Randolph and he barely escaped with his wife and child. He lost all of his household goods and quite a large sum of money. The house occupied by Mr. Johnson, which is only a few feet away was also damaged to quite an extent. Mr. Johnson's loss is estimated at $1,500 and Mr. Randolph's at $1,000. The origin of the fire is unknown. This property is situated in the business part of the city, next to Beattie's Block, and is the most valuable owned by any colored man in the city. Both houses were insured, which will only partially cover the loss. The furniture of Mr. Randolph was not insured. They have the sympathy of the entire community.

Rev. A. Binga Jr left on last Tuesday for Liberty, Va to attend the Baptist State Convention which convened on Wednesday.

The suit of Mr. Thomas Tucker against Blanton & Co for the death of his father, caused by falling over a steep cut at the brick yard owned by the firm which has been in Court for nearly five years, was decided in favor of Mr. Tucker, on last Thursday. The jury all white, rendered a verdict for $350. Mr. Tucker will now enter suit against the city. A prominent colored lawyer of Richmond will be his counsel, so we are informed.

Mrs. Martha A. Hughes and her daughter Bertha, who are in New York and Mrs. Anna Brooks and her daughter, Lillie, who are in Philadelphia, are expected home next week.

The marriage of Mr. Henry Robinson to Mrs. Mary E. Mann, took place on last Thursday at 2:30 o'clock, p. m. at the First Baptist Church. Rev. A. Binga Jr, performed the ceremony. Messrs Wm. Moon and Randolph Robinson were ushers. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Robinson boarded the south bound train for an extended trip South. May their life be a happy one.

A Literary Club.

A grand concert and exhibition given by the "John Mitchell, Jr., Literary Club" of Chester Va., on Monday evening April 7, 1890. This club was organized in December last by Mrs. J. E. Brown, and is composed mostly of young ladies and gentlemen. It has in it some of the finest talent as can be found most anywhere and never did it show itself better than on the above named night. A crowded house of the friends and relatives of these young people greeted them on the opening of the service. The president, Mr. Charles Fisher, being absent at the opening of the service, Rev. W. R. Brown of the Richmond Theological Seminary, was requested to act as singer, singer, which he did, calling off a splendid programme which was well received.

Opening: singing by the club, prayer by Rev. J. E. Brown. Mr. Editor, it was my intention as well as the wish of the club that the readers of THE PLANET should have a full report of this grand entertainment, but sudden illness prevented me from writing and even now I am not well enough to write much. But in the near future this fine club is to have another entertainment and THE PLANET and its readers shall have a full report (and the PLANET have the money for publishing it) of it. Prof. W. R. Brown sang several songs and he and the Madame J. E. Brown sang a duet.

Hon. J. W. Jones of Port Walthall, and his charming wife, as well as others from the same place graced the occasion with their presence. Jeff is a jolly good fellow and always has plenty of fun wherever he goes. The young ladies attending the National school from Chester and Centralia, Misses Mamie E. White, Emma Rowlett, Mary E. Rose and Lucy Hewlett, being home taking holiday, added pleasure to the occasion by being present and taking part. Mr. Joseph C. Brown and Mr. Morris from the Normal School Petersburg, were present. All of these young people acted their part well and the young ladies and gentlemen from the Normal School as well as many others of the club show that some day in the near future they will be bright stars in the literary world.
